

How customized staff training improved technology implementation for a finance and banking service provider

BACKGROUND

Our client is a finance and banking service provider with an internal data engineering team. They came to us for help choosing new computing platforms. They also wanted training for their team on the new technology

OUR SOLUTION

After working with the client to fully understand their needs and challenges (i.e. data quality issues, metadata management, data lag, latency, reporting, etc.), we helped them choose Snowflake as their new data application.

Once the new technology was chosen, the CCS Learning Academy team designed a curriculum tailored to the Snowflake environment. This customized training was delivered by a certified SME and included industry test cases and real-life scenarios related to Snowflake's virtual data warehouse, SnowSQL, and Snowflake data migration strategies. We also helped the client's team plan and implement prototypes giving them hands-on experience.

RESULTS

Result One

The client received professional guidance determining which computing platforms would work best for them.

Result Two

The client's data engineering team received training that was pertinent to their specific landscape and daily activities.

Result Three

The client experienced a smooth transition to Snowflake with minimal downtime. They also upskilled their staff to facilitate rapid user adoption and Day 1-readiness.
